Fellow NISA Members and Interested parties:

Thank you for visiting the NISA web site. We are grateful for your support and your continued interest in this organization. Our association hosts two technical seminars annually, spring and fall, in various locations around the US and Canada. These seminars allow our membership to obtain information on new innovations in the weighing industry, keep up to date on new or developing Weights & Measures regulations, receive updates on AAR, AREMA, NCWM Belt Scale Sector activities and meet peers from throughout our industry.

In 2017 we will be hosting our conferences in Mobile, AL, and Memphis, TN. The Fall Technical Conference will take place October 22 - 24 at the Spring Hill suites in downtown Memphis, TN. Further information is available at <http://www.nisa.org/meeting.html>. A special room rate is available for those attending the conference. There are several local attractions within walking distance of the hotel and further information is available at <http://www.marriott.com/hotels/travel/memmp-springhill-suites-memphis-downtown/>

Our organization expanded last year with the integration of the National Weighing and Sampling Association. We are now much stronger and offer greater diversity to our membership. Our conferences will now include information on belt scales and dynamic weighing. The Fall Conference will also include the NCWM Belt Scale sector meeting in addition to the AREMA / AAR meeting.

I sincerely hope you will take the opportunity to attend the NISA conferences to make acquaintances within the industry, obtain the current status of weighing requirements, make new friendships, or renew existing ones. Please reach out to colleagues and contacts and invite them to attend as well. The technical seminars and hospitality programs will surely provide an opportunity to expand your reach into the scale and weighing industries.

Best regards,

National Industrial Scale Association
